

Team Mascots Appear in Playful “I’m Going to Disney World” TV Commercial Ahead of College Football National Championship

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (Jan. 2, 2015)– Below is a link to download the latest video in the Disney Parks series of humorous College Football Playoff TV spots that are airing now and will appear across Disney Parks social media channels.

In this video, school mascots “Brutus Buckeye” of The Ohio State University and the Duck of the University of Oregon are waiting at an airport, hoping their team wins the National Championship so they can take off on a celebratory trip to Walt Disney World Resort in Florida representing their school. The fun culminates in a big way after the Jan. 12 National Championship game on ESPN with the winning team’s mascot getting treated to a champion’s parade down Main Street U.S.A., similar to how marquee sports heroes have celebrated their team’s victory after the big game.

###